COLOR

INDEPENDENT

Color is produced by the way an object reflects or emits light. By placing colors next to each other in different ways, artists can create a variety of effects.

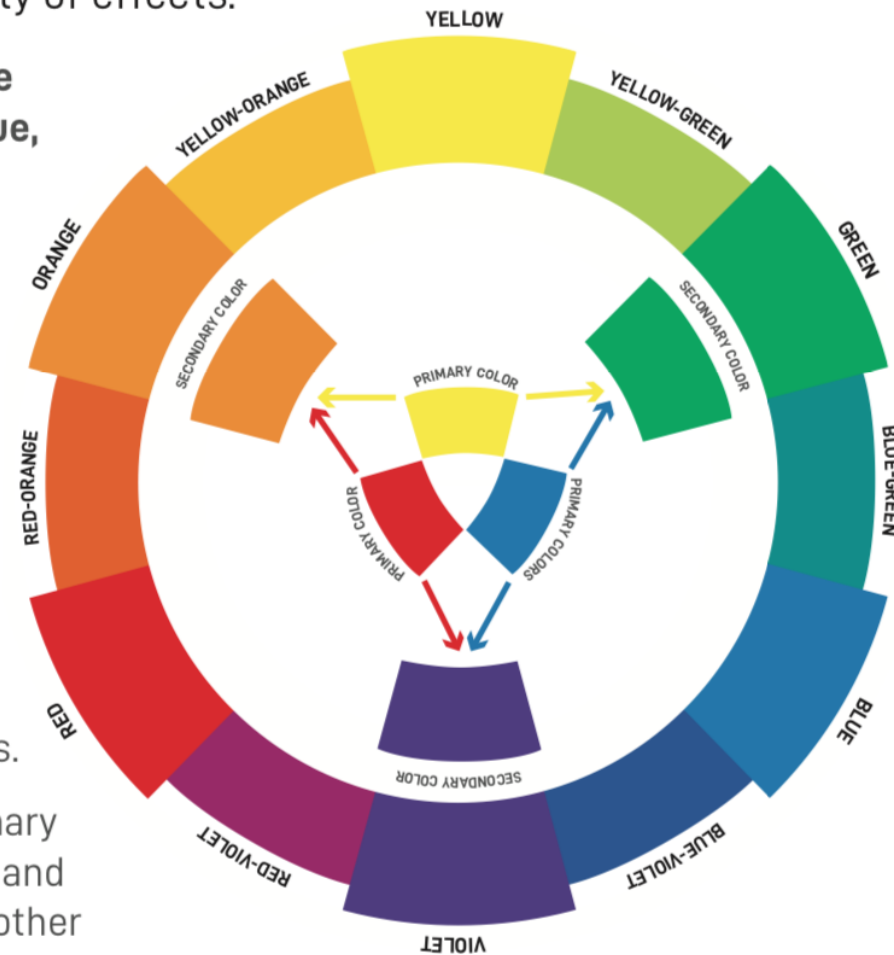

Each color has three properties: hue, value, and intensity.

HUE is the name of the color.

VALUE is a color's lightness or darkness.

INTENSITY refers to the brightness of a color, often measured by boldness or dullness.

There are three primary colors (blue, yellow, and red) from which all other colors are made. Colors can be evaluated as complementary, analogous, and warm or cool.

THINK AND TALK ABOUT COLOUR
